

SETTING THINGS RIGHT.
BUILDING A BETTER WORLD.

“ In a world
built on shadows,
the bravest act
is to make things right.
”

TO RIGHT A WRONG

The Crossmatching Of True Love

LOVE. JUSTICE. REDEMPTION.
THE CHOICES THAT CHANGE EVERYTHING.

WE CAN MAKE IT
RIGHT
ONE CHOICE. ONE ACT.
ONE WORLD.

FILM NOIR

— www.filmnoir.ca —

TO RIGHT A WRONG

The Crossmatching Of True Love

Preface

There are different stages of understanding, just like in science where inventors or scientists move through different phases of an invention before creating something that's truly awesome. For example, moving from audio tapes to video tapes, and then video CDs, to Dvds, and online streaming.

Invention progresses through time and in a similar vein the author of this website, and its eBooks, has also progressed through time in understanding.

If you have read the movie review of 'The Great Flood' on www.filmnoir.ca you would have grasped a basic concept of the term 'stages of understanding'.

This eBook is a combination of experiences and advancement from the earlier eBooks. It provides more insights gained after overcoming mental blocks, spiritual silos, and corresponding blindnesses or ignorance. It brings better insights into the origins of bond entrapments, the problems of enforced wrongness in our world, and how to free yourself from bonds and entrapments.

It is a true take on how society and the world in general can be a better place.

The Repeating Cycles

There are different views on human origins, including religious, cultural, and scientific views.

From this author's perspective, our world has begun and ended several times, only to be restarted as humanity is given another opportunity to fix its affairs by correcting the balance in the flow of things. This author's dream-like trances, past-life memories and spiritual revelations have revealed various beginnings and endings.

On one of such revelations, the author who espouses the philosophy that he is a physical vessel and one of the many multiplications of the essence of Archangel Michael, saw himself in the beginning created from a void with a counterpart who was feminine.

This feminine counterpart was senior to the male counterpart and would later be revealed as the White Asian Queen, while the male represented the Archangelic vessel of Michael.

While the male essence represented the angelic or organic side of life, the female represented the demonic or scientific side of life. Life in this perspective, refers to God or the Source, or the Creator.

This feminine counterpart at creation should not be mistaken for the female version of the same physical vessel. Female versions and male versions of the spiritual entities and original DNA sources are very much alike in traits, but the division of the source into male and female created direct opposites in traits.

On another revelation, the author viewed a sort of cosmic explosion which generated several life forms, much like Darwin theory.

On yet another revelation, the author viewed human origin as a reproductive process between a male and twelve females which made up thirteen DNA strands. The thirteen DNA strands combined to recreate and build human life forms around the world.

This implies that there are thirteen territories and thirteen races around the world which originated from the original thirteen individuals. This perspective is elaborately described in another eBook on the website, www.filmnoir.ca, and it is titled Twelve Sisters and Twelve Planets.

There are also various accounts of a global catastrophic end to life forms around the world. Some of these accounts are hidden as stories, myths, and legends. While others are promoted in religious movements around the world.

One such account considers the end-of-life forms by a great flood and the rising waters of the ocean, with only a few surviving individuals having the responsibility of restarting life.

Another account based on the past future life revelations of this author considers that our world has progressed far beyond its current stages and into the future but ended due to incessant wars between various fractions. These wars are likened to the types symbolized in sci-fi movies like Star Wars and Star Trek.

If you connect the dots, you can imagine a catastrophic explosion ending all life forms but resulting in a surviving ship, and this can be connected to the Darwin theory of life forms emerging from an explosion.

Several times man has started and ended violently only to begin again, and all the while the universe expands as the supreme force symbolizes its displeasure at our affairs by turning away.

It is like a childhood fairy tale from Africa, which says that man used to pluck and eat from the cloud, much like cotton candy. The cloud was within reach, but after man made a mistake, the cloud retreated far into the heavens and man could no longer eat of its sweetness.

In another perspective, the story could also be a social programming for African children to remember their scientific nature and aspire to invent flying machines that can take them back to the sweet food of heaven.

We cannot claim with a hundred percent certainty that these accounts are accurate but each of them holds insight into the progress and flow of our human race journey.

The Creed of True Love

Like a student who fails their term exam, humanity is made to repeat the process of origination and restarting from a primitive culture.

World ending destruction ensues when we fail to flow according to the divine blueprint or plan that can establish ecological, financial, physical, spiritual and social balance in our world.

Our major problem therefore is the sustenance of balance in our world in a way that can enhance cohesive and harmonious growth.

If growing together in harmony is our problem, then love for ourselves and one another becomes the major issue that needs to be addressed. This is because Love is the antecedent of Harmony.

If we can love ourselves, we would look out for one another, and we won't cheat each other out of love.

The creed of true love is a term this author coins to represent a decision reached at the highest spiritual level to correct the conflicting feelings and enmity between both sides of life, i.e. the angelic/organic and the demonic/scientific. These two sides of life have been explained in another eBook on the website, www.filmnoir.ca, and it's titled The Angels and Demons Feud.

The creed of true love is an attempt to cross match the physical vessels of the originating thirteen spiritual entities in a way that demonic/scientific men would be matched with angelic/organic women, while angelic/organic men would be matched with demonic/scientific women.

The Failed Wedding

The only problem is that humanity is not fully conscious of what has been accepted, agreed, or planned by the divine consciousness. Moreover, those plans must have been made without a complete comprehension of the extent man would go to hurt or betray man. The barbaric nature of the human mind which can kill to covet another's rights or even to avoid blame and guilt.

In this regard, several attempts at gaining true love rightly have gone to ruin and ended in tragedy. There is a story behind the tragic nature of true love, a story which was revealed to this author under the influence and activated memories from music. Specifically, by the music album of Miley Cyrus titled 'Something Beautiful' which she released in the year 2025.

The story starts with a failed wedding or a refusal of marriage between a demonic/scientific woman and an angelic/organic man.

In my revelation, that woman was the essence of the Queen of the Black Race and the man was the essence of Archangelic Michael, the original king of the indigenous people of Canada and native North Americans, often called Red Indians. Please refer to the eBook titled 'Twelve Sisters and Twelve Planets' available on www.filmnoir.ca.

The Queen had come to the King in acknowledgement of the crossmatching of true love and the bonds of unity, but she was rejected.

It is not clear if she was rejected directly by the King or by the Kings council, or Queen Mother, but something went wrong and the Queen of the black race had to storm off in anger.

In this vein, we can deduce that the demonic are more spiritually conscious than the angelic. Hence, the terms 'sleeping angelics' or 'the watchers' are often used in association with angelic entities who aren't spiritually active.

This author makes this claim because it was reasonable for the black queen to acknowledge her role of coming to stand in union with her true love, but the her sleeping angelic true love must have felt estranged by her interest, because he was no longer consciously connected to the spirit, and was reluctant to accept her as his queen.

His connection and expected love for her in the spirit realm wasn't physically felt even though she had humbled herself to come to him.

How long ago this happened is not so clear, but to put it in better perspective or to paint a clearer picture in your mind, you can consider the movie titled 'Coming to America' featuring Eddy Murphy, and the movie titled 'Malevolent' featuring Angelina Jolie.

In the movie 'Coming to America' we see a queen rejected at a royal wedding and humiliated by the suitor who told her to bark like a dog and hop away from the castle.

In the movie 'Malevolent' we see a queen driven mad by rage and driven from the castle into the evil forest.

Trances and past life memories are never vivid or explicitly clear, so it is important to draw inferences from other sources like movies, music, art, games, and stories that can put the visions into perspective.

To be clear, this doesn't mean that past-life events transpired exactly as it is portrayed in the arts, not that it all happened in a chronologic time frame. The arts only help create a vivid picture and better understanding of the stories.

www.filmnoir.ca

The Journey to Surrender

The spirit is, however, much stronger than the physical. Mostly since humanity hasn't really expressed much of its physical nature which is still banked in the spirit.

By that statement, this author implies that everything we can ever achieve physically is already in a spiritual blueprint and the earliest humans or physical beings had a manifested spiritual ability to do supernatural things like flying, lifting heavy objects, breathing under water or walking through fire.

These supernatural abilities become expressed as physical creations or inventions. For example, oxygen apparatus for deep sea diving, airplanes and aeronautic engineering for flying, and hydraulic engineering for lifting massive objects.

The force in the spirit drove the angelic king Michael mad as his intuition became troubled by the wrongness of rejecting his bonded true love.

The King started having troubling trances and dreams. In one of such dreams, he saw a previous life-form where both angelics and demonics were his offsprings and he had made a vow to always love the queen of the black race, and that his kingdom would always welcome her, anytime she needed his love.

In another one of such trances, he saw a time when the kingdom of the Queen of the black race had been completely engulfed by flames because love had been totally extinguished in her territory. This was in acknowledgement of the spiritual bond that 'There would always be land, were love stands'. In this trance, Michael had to enter the flames and sing love songs to the ashes of his true love before she was reborn from the flames and able to reclaim the land and stability of the world.

The destruction of her land would have engulfed the whole world, because once the problem of extinguished love starts, it keeps growing until the other territories are equally consumed. This concept was revealed to this author through a mobile FPS game, where the safe zone kept shrinking.

This need to assist other territories also symbolizes the importance of human unity and the need to support one another, because the problem of one can become the problem of everyone.

Michael's disturbing dreams and trances lead to a moment of madness and an impromptu decision to visit the Queen of the black race and placate her love.

Michael embarked on a journey to surrender his love to his true love, the queen of the black race. He went through the boundaries of the strange, evil, or haunted forest and into the kingdom of the Queen of the Black Race.

At the Kingdom of the black race Michael was meant with hostility and thrown in a dungeon.

As it is with trances, visions, and dreams, the details are clouded and quite sketchy. Therefore, this author makes a humble attempt at trying to piece the details together or connect the dots into a reasonable story or flowing format.

Hence, the events in each sequence might have occurred over several generations. For example, the journey of the Queen of the Black Race to Michael was revealed as a visit, while Michael's journey to surrender to the Queen was revealed as a perilous journey.

Despite the hostile treatment, Michael held on to his love for the Queen of the Black Race, and he kept proclaiming his love for her.

At the dungeon, Michael received frequent visits from a woman who came to sooth his pains and keep him company.

The vision became unclear because the Queen of the black race became symbolized as a woman who was respected by the guards but not so loved by the people.

Maybe the feminine symbol was of royal blood but didn't like the ways of her people or her other suitors. Hence, the acknowledgement by the trance that she was respected by the guards enough to permit her an audience alone with the imprisoned Michael.

Their companionship blossomed into love and after a while it seemed to be like a test of Michael's acceptance of her love.

Michael was a strong and powerful King who was fortified with the armor of God. Although, this author is not entirely sure what the armor of God meant or implied, but it was quite clear that Michael's test was to verify his being and authenticate his intentions towards loving their Queen.

Death and Betrayal

The impromptu decision by the King to leave his kingdom and castle in search of love, must have triggered doubts and raised conflicting emotions among his clan and kinsmen.

They would have wondered if the King had fallen under some sought of evil spell or if he had been enchanted by an evil force.

A search party was sent into the enchanted forest to search for and retrieve the King. They were to go behind enemy lines into forbidden territories which might be inhabited by enemies.

A brave company of expert snipers with bows and arrows agreed to set off into the forest in search of the King. This company included the King's close aides and dear friends. Maybe, even the King's mother. But the vision wasn't too clear as to which people made the decision to go searching for the King.

On the other side, Michael and the woman had grown very fond of each other. They were beginning to get good reception and build good vibes from the people of the woman's kingdom.

Michael asked her to take him out of the dungeon and show him her people's culture and beliefs. He was curious to know why he needed to come all the way from his territory to show love to another woman. He was curious about what kind of traditions they had that gave love so much pain. His curiosity was partly because he was tormented by the memories of loving a similar woman through the flames which threatened to destroy the world. He wanted to see if he could influence their culture and imbibe it with love and peaceful harmony.

Michael could have also made the request because he had been in the dungeon for a very long time and he missed the plains, vegetations, and animals which he was used to seeing in his kingdom. He missed being free.

The woman accepted to lead Michael out into the plains, away from the prying eyes of the castle's guards and the people. Away from the protective walls of the kingdom.

On the other side the search party from Michael's kingdom had reached the borderlands of the black queen's kingdom walls. They had breezed through fearful and strange creatures of the forest counting scores and betting on who had the most kills. They were a mighty and brave bunch indeed.

They waited at the borderlands for an opportunity to penetrate the kingdom and see if their King Michael was being held captive.

A golden opportunity presented itself to the search party, as the woman heeding to Michael's request secretly led him out of the protective walls of the Kingdom.

To the waiting warriors hidden in the borderlands, this was a golden opportunity, it was divine providence indeed, for wasn't it their King who was being led out of a secret entrance in the kingdom's walls?

The King seemed happy although he was in chains but there were no guards, only a young woman leading him out to the open plains.

In order to get a higher score, one of the warriors tried to be the first to shoot and quickly let his arrow fly, striking the woman down and they rushed to their King in triumph because they thought they had succeeded in rescuing his majesty.

‘No, No, Noooo, what have you done?’, the King cried out in anguish. Maddened by rage he was infuriated at the warriors for killing the woman he had come to love.

The warriors didn’t understand as they pleaded with the King to come with them. To run and escape from his captors. They thought he had become mentally enslaved and too frightened to run.

But the King had become enlightened by his trances. He had seen the Kingdom and its warriors and he understood the consequences of bringing back the feelings of enmity which had once destroyed the entire world. He had become conscious of the importance of the bonds of true-love, which was a cross-matching of the angelics and demonics in love and harmony.

‘Oh, his brave warriors had ruined the opportunity’, they had spoilt his attempt, even after he had patiently bore all his punishments and tests to prove his love.

But he understood that it wasn’t really the fault of his men, for he had left without giving them enough information. He understood that they were being loyal to his position as King, and they were acting rightly as close aides and warriors in their attempt at rescuing him.

The King cried and lamented his misfortune at the death of the woman he had come to love.

What happens next wasn't made clear in the vision or trance but the King, Michael, took the blame of the woman's death and accepted to be punished in the place of his men.

Michael knew the bonds of peace would be broken by this mistake and he made a bond on himself to placate the woman's people and restore balance and peaceful harmony to the world.

(Somehow, the Chinese anime series titled 'Kabaneri of the Iron Fortress' comes to mind here, but this author isn't sure of its relationship with this story).

Michael stripped himself of his rights and royalty as king and accepted to take the punishments from the black queens' tribe. He was wrongly mistaken for being responsible for her death, because they thought he had made an elaborate attempt at escaping from their lands.

In the real sense, Michael had only lovingly taken responsibility for her death because he blamed himself for losing track of time and not communicating effectively with his men. He also did it out of love for the woman and to protect the men. He couldn't bring himself to love another woman and he was willing to wait for a reincarnated version of the queen of the black race.

Michael asked his warriors to officially come back and request for his release after a stipulated time of mourning had elapsed in which he hoped or had calculated that the balance lost by the mistake would have been reclaimed and the woman's people would have been placated by his punishments and mourning.

The woman's people were livid at Michael's escape attempt and Michael bore all their punishments. He was making a great sacrifice to protect his own people from war and prevent the blame from being placed on his ignorant soldiers.

The bonds of true love were a difficult thing to explain, and it was hopeless trying to make them see reasons for his decisions. He could only hope the world would be guided by his example.

After the stipulated time of mourning and punishments, Michael's closest ally arrived to ask for Michael's pardon. It was the very warrior who had been the first to shoot and had struck the queen down.

Michael waited anxiously to be freed so that he could reclaim his rights as King, but he was betrayed. The warrior told Michael's captors that Michael was a liar and wasn't truly a King. He told them to keep Michael as a slave because his people had no need for a king like Michael.

Being livid is an understatement because the brutality that followed on Michael is difficult even in reminiscence.

The Queen of the Black Race's tribe were maddened by the deceit of a servant who had come to pretend he was king and had deceived their queen to her death under the pretense of love.

'You liar, you servant, how dare you claim to be a king, how dare you deceive our queen, how dare you kill our queen', they cried in rage and desperation.

The flower of their kingdom had fallen to the deceit of a fool who thought he was a king.

Michael was distraught at the betrayal of his close comrade and trusted friend.

'No, I am a King, I love her, oh I loved her' Michael cried.

So, this is how he pays me for taking the burden of his mistake upon myself? So, this is how he rewards me for protecting him from the consequences of his mistake? Michael was going insane with lamentation.

Michael was beaten on the head till he stopped claiming to be a King. This is an act that seems to be reenacted by the Jewish Jesus who was given a crown of thorns. This author who is also one of the many reincarnated and multiplied physical vessels of the archangelic Michaelian presence also carries an unexplainable painful feeling on the left side of his head.

Michael was stripped naked, tied to horses and ran through the streets in mockery. Michael was flogged mercilessly and tied on the streets like a dog.

Michael was paralyzed to prevent him from escaping and tied in the open without food or water. He became like the entity called 'Smeagol/Gollum' in the movie 'The Lord of the Rings'.

The Sufferings and the Messages in Music

Each time Michael begged to be free, his punishment was worsened and each time he claimed to be a king his head was bashed in. Till he forgot who he was or where he came from.

This brought the song titled 'I'm like a Bird' by Nelly Furtado, to this author's mind. It brought tears to my eyes when I understood the symbolism in its lyrics; 'I don't know where my home is'.

They wouldn't let him die, even though he begged to be killed. It was a nightmarish nightmare. Betrayed by his own people and punished for a crime he didn't commit, Michael could do nothing but sing and beg.

Naked in the cold, crawling in the dirt, and eating scums, scraps, and dirt like a dog, Michael sang from the depth of his heart. Song after song, after song, as he sent messages into the wind in hope of being rescued from the anger of his lover's people and the betrayal of his own people.

Songs bouncing through the cosmos, hitting the spiritual consciousness, and ricocheting back to physical vessels like an S.O.S. message travelling through time.

To this day, there's still a lot of deeper symbolic meanings in various art forms. Some are messages from the past, while others are messages and directions for future endeavors.

Art is as vital to the peaceful growth and harmonious development of the world as any other branch of study, and the thing with art is that those who are truly talented are rarely in the sphere of professional training cycles. Art is an artform whose basic qualities are like a diamond in the rough.

However, talent needs to be harnessed and refined to make it into something truly remarkable.

Thus, began the trials and travails of the physical vessels of the archangelic Michael, deposed of kingship and wrongly blamed for the demise of love and the spoilt balance of the world.

The powers of rulership and control had been abdicated to a friend who became a betraying enemy.

The existence of a final place of rest or punishment as proscribed by religious systems under the terms of heaven or hell, is thus questionable. This is because overtime, the reincarnated and multiplied versions of the physical vessels of Archangelic Michael have always been symbolized as the punished love, who is deprived from the goodness of life and the love of women.

Bonds of Wrongness

The interjections of visions or memories lost to time and past-life trances often make the revelations seem disjointed or difficult to narrate as a coherent story.

Alternatively, the visions or stories could also be part of social programming meant to guide humanity in the journey of life.

One of such interjections is the memory trance or vision of events at Michael's first betrayal.

In this excerpt of the vision, Michael was betrayed and killed as he requested for his abdicated rights of kingship to be returned. In a fashion quite similar to the narrated story of Ogun in the eBook titled "The Curse of True Love", which is also available on the website www.filmnoir.ca.

In this vision, Michael cried that a great wrong had befallen the human race journey. That it was a wrong with terrible consequences against the ascension of man and his acceptance into the heavens. He cried that he would need to keep coming back to right the wrongs. He would need to reclaim his rights to bring things back to order and proper flow.

In their ignorance, his detractors consumed by greed at the opportunity of power and corrupted by its potential benefits rejected Michael's pleas.

We are not sure what the true nature or ability of Michael's power was but the betrayals used it against Michael. With the powers of Michael which were meant to guide the world to prosperity, they placed a bond to reject the rightness of things.

If things progress rightly, he will regain his rights and punish us, but if things don't go rightly or if they go wrongly then he will never be able to reclaim his rights and we can continue to enjoy the benefits of his powers.

Oh, how naive were they! Limited by their myopic reasoning and the immediate benefits of power, authority, and affluence, they misjudged the importance of Michael's claims and made a bond of wrongness. A bond of wrongness to rule the world as an indirect method of depriving Michael from his rights.

Needless to say, but all hell broke loose! The world was turned upside down and till this day, we still live in a world where what is accepted and promoted must have a symbolism of wrongness.

A world bonded to wrongness! That's just insane! Examples of the symbolisms of wrongness include;

- Innocent Michael remained punished for a crime he never committed.
- Young and beautiful women became victims of public humiliations, whipping and floggings, and even killings instead of receiving love.
- Sources of energy have an underlying ecological problem.
- Education systems have symbolisms of wrongness.
- Technological inventions have underlying harmful substances to humans or nature.
- Music and Movies promote nudity, and the Internet has porn.

These symbolisms of wrongness appear to still be enforced by those who still tarry in ignorant pursuit of the benefits of Michael's power.

In the real sense and proper frame of things, the true benefits of Michael's power is supposed to be harmonious development and peaceful coexistence in our world.

The King of the region called heaven was supposed to promote, encourage, and support the advancement of a heaven on earth, before guiding or assisting a physical ascension into the heavens in space exploration and technological innovations.

This was the underlying reason behind the cross-matching bonds of true love between the angelics and the demonics, which motivated Michael's consequent attempt at winning the love of the Queen of the Black Race.

The reader might need to read the other eBooks available on www.filmnoir.ca to get a better perspective of the Queens of humanity and their supposed territories.

Even those who betrayed Michael were also affected by the bonds of wrongness.

In a similar disjointed revelation, one of them who was junior to Michael, bonded himself to be 1st, to withstand the bonds of wrongness. He needed to gain a wrong acknowledgement of 1st and he enforced his right as a senior under the claim that he was 1st.

This author was in his late thirties when he became aware of the acknowledgements of 1st, so it is possible that you the reader might still be ignorant or confused about the issues identified in this eBook and all the other eBooks and reviews on the website www.filmnoir.ca

The important thing is to be conscious of making the right decision and assisting actively in the development of a better world for the future and the good of all humanity.

To develop a conscious, aware, and mindful personality that makes conscious decisions to effect positive changes in our world.

www.filmnoir.ca

Infanticide

Initially none of us understood, and it has taken many lifetimes, centuries, and even millenniums to understand that we are the past, present, and the future.

We are a reincarnating and multiplying species, called Homo-Sapiens. Our origins are founded on 13 DNA strands according to the revelations of this author which is available in the eBook titled "Twelve Sisters and Twelve Planets".

With this fact about our reincarnating presence in mind, the problem of infanticide becomes a stark and bitter stain on our human history.

As a being born of the original seeding of Man, Arch-angel Michael carries an innate ability to guide humanity along a true and expected direction.

He is a being that is saddled with the responsibility of creating or guiding the development of a prosperous and harmonious world. As designated King of Heaven, he has a responsibility to physically aid the development of heaven on earth. This means that he works to create a joyful world with happy prosperous people. Not the religious misconception of a chorus of unending hallelujahs.

As a physical vessel, the region under Michael's DNA is much likely the indigenous people of Canada, and native Indians of North America. This also includes the Yupik and Siberian Inuit who live in regions close to Russia and China.

By extension to the bonded carrying of planets under the 13 DNA strands or mothers of humanity. The planet earth which is considered the only naturally habitable planet (although this is questionable) is the planet under Michaelian DNA. Therefore, Michael's mission and vision would be an earthly heaven flourishing with goodness and prosperity. Welcoming to everybody and beings from all regions and planets. He is programmed to be an epitome of love.

The United States and Canada to this day, remain a place where immigrants often visit in hope of a better life and love. It is a symbol of the heaven it is expected to be.

Given these facts, it is arguable that the natural bond or divine programming behind the essence of Michael is based on the right or proper flow of things. In this sense, we can claim that Michaelians are bonded to rightness. By Michaelians, we mean all the physical vessels of the Arch-angelic presence of Michael both male and female, as well as the people created under his DNA strand.

From the previous chapters, we presented a sequence or flow of events that led to the betrayal and bonds against a true King who was one of the vessels of archangelic Michael.

The bonds to promote wrongness, made by the betrayal, to prevent the return of the rights of the rightful king became an activated enchantment that compelled those in support and acceptance of the wrongs to hunt and kill infants who carried the right DNA programming for our world.

This persecution included any infant whose destiny or mission in the world would be a challenge to the bonds of wrongness. This means everything that had to do with leading humanity along the right path was persecuted and enslaved or destroyed, including infants.

The bonds of wrongness has been carried through time by initiations and systemic inculcations to fraternities and secret societies and has been sustained as a source of persecution for vessels naturally bonded to sustain the right flow of things.

Culture, tradition and religion became bonded by wrongness. The rights of passage to men who should love and protect their women became a right to humiliate women in public.

Religion that was supposed to promote love and unity, became a stimulant for persecutions, executions, and war.

Tradition destroyed its original stories of creation. Stories that carried memory programming for its children and replaced them with tales of a humiliated brother who tries to outwit his senior and lay claim to kingship. Meanwhile in reality, the reverse was the case, and the humiliated brother is usually a Michaelean vessel still complaining about his wrong punishment and his stolen rights to kingship.

Thus, we see the underlying reasons behind the dark ages, the persecutions, the killings of the innocents, burning at stakes of people accused of witchcraft and most nefarious, the infanticides.

Evidence of infanticides abound in various historical contexts both culturally and religiously.

According to a Google search, 'Infanticides in human history', infanticide is an ancient practice documented in up to 80% of human societies.

One of the most notable evidence of infanticide is in the Christian story of Jesus of Nazareth. It tells of the persecution and killing of Jewish children under a ruler who was attempting to prevent the prophecy of a new King being born.

There are various historical evidence of sacrificed children in primitive cultures and sacrificial rituals involving children are still one of the most heinous crime rumors in political cycles.

The consequences of the wicked mistake of betraying a loving king, who lovingly agreed to bear the blame for his kinsmen's mistake, rippled across the world growing and multiplying as more people fell to the enforcement of the bonds of wrongness.

It is a brutal and bitter truth which is very difficult to think about, let alone write about. This author writes in tears. Tears at his helplessness and frustrations, especially in acknowledgment of the spiritual disturbances he also faces while pulling his thoughts together and thinking of the right words that would bring about a peaceful resolution and reconciliation.

Overall, it is intriguing how our previous life experiences are transferred to new physical vessels

The Broken Memories

If you have read the review of the movie titled ‘The Great Flood’ on www.filmnoir.ca then you would have grasped the basic concept behind the term ‘Stages of understanding’.

This author’s understanding has been revealed in different stages through his lifetime and experiences while researching and writing about the issues discussed on the website; www.filmnoir.ca. It is a question of mindfulness or awareness, and Michael’s awareness was severely affected by the sequences of events in the beginning of time.

Saving Michael from activating the bonds that made him a persecuted child, required a disconnection of his physical being from his divine self. This would ensure that he no longer carried the DNA programming of guiding the world in the right direction.

However, this disconnection only lasted for a while, as Michael often became maddened by the wrongness of things when he came of age and needed to find love.

As an epitome of love, or according to Greek like or mythological references, as the god of Love, Michael’s entire being revolts against the forced humiliation, entrapments, and degradation women were put through in acknowledgement or support of the bonds of wrongness.

From his psychic and perspective, love certainly couldn’t be a bond of suffering. This realization of being deprived of true love, often activated Michael’s connection to his divine self. Thus, the physical vessels of Michael are often known to be maddened prophets who preach against the wrongness of the world and often end up getting killed. Jesus was a perfect example of one of such vessels.

It is quite likely that most of the prophets mentioned in various religious orders are equally Michaelian physical vessels.

However, due to the initial disconnection from his divine self, Michael's awareness and understanding became disjointed.

His prophetic utterances and messages became largely based on the inferences he could gather from the society around him, and his physical vessels would often be maddened by messages from the source which he couldn't relate to.

The maddened prophets often inspired violence and consequently died from the violence they instigated.

This author believes himself to also be one of such physical vessels of Michael and after a period of insanity and psychiatric treatments, along with counselling, the author took to writing to try and piece together the madness and thoughts he could garner.

His eBooks on www.filmnoir.ca each contain stories of how they were inspired, and over time as his awareness grew, he developed more material.

He also uses movies, books, and music to explain concepts which he couldn't otherwise explain without physical evidence. This is the motivation behind the movie and book reviews on his blog, www.filmnoir.ca

The story of a Michaellean King's first betrayal provided in this eBook appears to have happened earlier than the story related in the eBook, 'The Curse of True Love'.

This is also a testament to the repeating cycles of life, as our mistakes keep us stuck in a sought of Groundhog Day scenario. Thus, the reincarnated vessels of the cheated King appear to reenact the sequences of his cheating in different formats and situations, while his betrayals keep outsmarting the importance of correcting their wrongs.

It is a truly sad thing to become conscious of, but it's better to be aware. For a problem known is a problem half-solved.

Therefore, this eBook provides a much earlier origin of the bonds of entrapment, which means that the other eBook titled 'The Curse of True Love', was a reenactment of the original mistake in a new generation.

Our world reaches a level of unbearable wrongness then gets destroyed and we are made to repeat our race into the heavens, like children who fail a school exam.

Imagine losing everything humanity has ever worked for. This includes surviving the dark ages and primitive times, creating inventions and innovations to make life better only to be destroyed by an inherent social wrongness that victimizes the innocents and exploits the weak. All over, again and again in a never-ending loop of madness.

The number of tries we have, to achieve the right direction of the world isn't clear. In fact, it isn't clear if we still have any more tries left, but one thing is certain and that is, 'Wrongness can't lead to the right result'. Because then it would be right!

www.filmnoir.ca

Lies to Sustain Evil Bonds

After the first betrayal of Michael and in subsequent generations various lies were promoted and enforced by those who sided with the wrongness and supported Michael's betrayal.

Michael, on the other hand, was completely lost and had forgotten who he was. The love in his heart made him quite oblivious to the fact that he was being discriminated against, marginalized, or punished.

His good nature aroused suspicions from people who knew he was being maltreated and it was also tormenting to his detractors that he was so good even in suffering.

To overcome their torments and to sustain his enslavements, Michael's detractors started, promoted, and enforced various lies against Michael.

In one instance they claimed that he was a liar, who always pretended to be King.

In another instance, they claimed that it was he who bonded women to suffering and humiliation, and this was the reason why they had to strip women naked in public and flog or maltreat women.

In another instance, they bonded the Queen of the Black race to become an ugly woman, then they claimed that Michael refused to love the queen because she was ugly. So, he killed her and was punished by God to suffer.

In another instance, they claimed that Michael was an angelic who challenged God and fell from grace, that was why he was bonded to suffer.

In another instance, they claimed that Michael was a very proud person who always wanted to be the greatest in what ever he did, so God punished him to be a low life. The bonds of being the greatest was then an indirect method for enslaving Michael, under the claim that he couldn't be permitted to do anything if he wasn't the greatest at it.

It is all mostly bollocks. All these lies were told just to keep Michael under the enslaving bonds and entrapment of being cheated out of his rights. But his detractors didn't understand the bonded DNA programming of the world and that everyone had their assigned territory according to the 13 Queen mothers as revealed by the 12 Sisters and 12 Planets eBook revelation.

In a different generation, sleeping and ignorant Michael who was maddened by the spoiling of love and the enslavement of women was instigated to murder his love. He was maddened by the realization of the spoiling of the human race journey with the humiliation of angelic women and the cheating of angelic men, so he acted rashly to enforce his truth or the right path. Then, he became stigmatized as the person who killed love and was bonded to suffer.

This is probably one of the reasons why Michael is bonded to be a powerless person because two wrongs can't make a right. You can't and you don't need to enforce rightness.

Even the reincarnated versions of the Queen of the Black race were told and convinced that Michael was an evil person who killed her to reject her love. Hence, they claimed that Michael was the reason men couldn't love women properly and women had to be humiliated and degraded. She equally joined in the persecution of Michael.

This author is not sure how she overcame the lies or how she feels now that Michael's truth about what transpired has been laid bare.

How do the women who join in persecuting love feel, now that it is obvious that the people they side with are the ones who perpetuate and benefit from the very things they wrongly blame Michaelians for.

It is pertinent to note that all these lies were promoted without the knowledge of Michael, because his enslavement is a secret he doesn't usually know about.

This author is relying on transmissions and vibes from the spirit to make all these statements. No one told me anything, everything I write about has been a painful realization through sad experiences, dreams, and meditation.

Spiritual Blackmail

The events that transpired in the beginning ultimately led to the enslavement and entrapment of angelic women.

The enslavement and entrapment of angelic women is expressed in various forms including BDSM, nude walk of shame, and other humiliating or brutal experiences. Sex dungeons and commercial sex harems are all forms of entrapment.

The world-famous nude dress, which is considered high fashion by notable female celebrities, is nothing but the primitive 'walk of shame' which was a humiliation ritual punishment on women in primitive times.

The movie titled 'Game of Thrones' gives us a vivid example of this brutal penance punishment in the scene where Cersei Lannister is given a "Walk of Atonement" after confessing to an illicit affair. As she walks nude down the street in tears, the crowd chants 'Shame, shame, shame', and throw different objects at her. That is the primitive tradition still followed, accepted, and promoted in a modern world filled with the educated.

When one looks objectively at the bonded entrapment and enslavement of angelic, one begins to see a different perspective.

Although it is a rather lame excuse, but the demonic mostly end up marrying the women they have humiliated. So, the perception of loving wrongly becomes a valid perspective.

In this sense, the demonic attempt to sustain their rights as true love to angelic women but they do it wrongly because of the bonds of wrongness which originated from the first betrayal of a King. The women suffer from the bonds of wrongness made on the world with the powers that had been wrongly acquired from the King.

Like we described everything that is correct or right has been victimized ever since.

It is very likely that the demonic bonded themselves to not be disadvantaged or victimized by the problems originating from the mistake of an angelic who usurped his ruler.

It is also quite likely that the turncoat cajoled and deceived them into helping with his plans to overthrow the royal house of his kingdom and become the king of heaven.

In retrospect, both the traitor and his accomplices acted in ignorance, because everyone among the original DNA source code, including the betraying '1st' had their own kingdom and territory in other parts of the world.

Therefore, what they did to the betrayed King only spoilt the bonded programming of the world which was intended to sustain the proper direction and system of things that would help humanity overcome obstacles and problems along the human race journey.

Every spiritual vessel, that is, every member of the original DNA source code has both a male and female version in the physical realm. This means there is a male and female version of both angelic and demonic vessels in physical reality.

In this regard, you cannot love someone else without first loving yourself. Therefore, the male and female vessels are also bonded lovers, just like the bonded crossmatching of true love between the angelic and demonic sides of life.

In the eBook titled 'The Angel and Demon Feud', this author elaborates more on the two sides of life, as a bonded programming for the sustenance of the organic and scientific processes in humanity.

The killing of the Queen of the black race who was supposed to be betrothed to King Michael, and the subsequent betrayal and enslavement of Michael created a void in angelic strongholds and more drastically, it brought back the ill-feelings of war between the angelic and demonic sides of life.

A war which had been reconciled spiritually, and furthermore, under the creed of crossmatching true loves between both sides, it was hoped that the differences would be overcome and the primitiveness of war would be a pastime of former life cycles.

In this regard, the angelic had been placed under a bond of peace in what seemed like a last-ditch or desperate attempt at reclaiming the peaceful flow or harmony in the system of things.

This bond of peace meant that the angelics could no longer access or use divine spiritual powers in battle. In other words, the divine specialness or shield of protection on the angelics had been removed as a way of symbolizing their intention to live peacefully alongside their demonic brothers and sisters.

However, with the usurped powers of the king now in possession of the '1st', he carried out a systematic destruction of angelic strongholds and territories backed by demonic forces. He rampaged angelic kingdoms and destroyed all those who rejected or challenged his rights to kingship.

His connivance with the deceived demonics facilitated the enslavement and entrapment of angelic women and thus, the enslavement and entrapment of angelic women by the demonics became a sought of payback for the spoiling of love. However, they were being deceived and were working in solidarity with the very person who was responsible for the wrongs.

Angelic men weakened by a bond of peace could barely fight back or defend their women. Although, history still holds accounts of angelic strongholds that lasted till recent times including accounts of the Spartan 300, which was most likely an angelic stronghold held by the Arch-angelic Gabrieleian vessel.

Spiritual blackmail became a problem to the angelic men, as the demonic in mock solidarity with the '1st', humiliated and brutalized their angelic true loves. The tendency of angelic men to fight and die trying to free their female versions became later translated to a spiritual death by masturbation or wanking.

Spiritually blackmailed by the sufferings of their female versions under a sought of 'prisoner of war' feeling, the angelic men became bonded to destroy themselves by masturbation.

Masturbation and wanking became a motivation for more humiliating experiences on angelic women in a disheartening cycle of shame and deprivation.

The lands and spoils obtained by the demonics, became a claim to wealth and more angelic men became condemned to a life of poverty due to a lack of love or an inability to defend their loves.

These problems still transpire to this day in various forms and formats. Avid readers of the movie reviews on the website, www.filmnoir.ca would be familiar with these issues.

Thinking objectively, it is a bit clearer that the bonds of peace placed on the angelics was purposefully decided because the loving angelics would be less likely to seek vengeance when the veil of blindness and deceit is finally lifted from the eyes of man.

This means that God always knew that things would transpire this way, and it is most likely indeed a last-ditch attempt at correcting the many failings of MAN.

The Worsening of Bonds

A bond of wrongness supported by initiates and those who honor the first betrayal implies an inability to be remorseful or an inability to feel guilt when accused of wrongs.

Therefore, rather than feeling sorry, accepting corrections, and taking remedial action the reverse would be initiated. The guilty could become sarcastic, defiant, and unremorseful, and would most likely worsen what he has been accused of.

If you have read the review of the movie titled 'Hemel' on www.filmnoir.ca you would have an idea of the concept of the worsening of bonds.

The bonds of enslavement and entrapment are worsened over time and by complaints. This means that if the enslaved or any other person complains about the wrongness of humiliation and brutality, the bonds are worsened to increase the humiliation and brutality melted out to the victims.

This author once had a discussion with a Christian pastor on the problems of promiscuity and the temptations of sex appeal. The pastor revealed that he once had a woman come in for counselling. According to the pastor, the woman complained that she had been gangbanged by four boys, and she was feeling very guilty because she had some other guy who was asking for her hand.

The pastor counselled her on self-control and told her that mistakes are forgiven if the sinner was truly remorseful. A few days later the woman came back to tell him that she was gangbanged again and this time it was eight boys.

The pastor claimed that he felt like the woman was purposely sent to frustrate his feelings and give him emotional torment or entice him by corrupting his mind, so he shouted at her to get out of his office.

It was worsened because she came to complain. But it goes beyond just mere complaints.

It is an accepted norm among the fraternities, who believe that women are their property, to destroy a woman's sex appeal before releasing them from the bonded service of the fraternity. Such women would be gangbanged compulsorily till the claim of love in their body is destroyed.

This is one of the problems of the bonds of wrongness, related to the victimization of love. Love, which is supposed to be honored became a thing, humiliated and disgraced.

To the lay man, still not aware of the enforcement of female service by bonds, it seems women chose disgrace over love.

There are several reasons for the compulsory destruction of the sex appeal of women.

One of such reasons is that the love of a woman is carried in her being, and this is referred to as the fruiting of women. It is the proverbial forbidden fruit that makes you wise and maybe wealthy.

Well, it is not exactly that straightforward but hopefully you get the point.

The demonic have a feeling of ownership of angelic women, they believe that the fruiting of angelic women are their natural rights. Therefore, they extinguish every ounce of love within their women so that they do not lose out to the angelic.

It seems like it's still some kind of spiritual battle to them, because they still hold on strongly to the feelings of enmity from the differences between angelic and demonic seeds.

Another reason for the compulsory destruction of love is the bond of wrongness placed on the world by the first betrayal. This implies that love given to a lover is the right thing, therefore, to be wrong in acknowledgment of the bonds, love cannot be given to a lover. Therefore, the so called 'defenders' would rip the love apart from the girl before letting her be with any man who claims to love her. They sometimes sarcastically pretend that it is a true test of love.

Yet another reason for the compulsory destruction of love is the sarcastic attempt of the demonic towards guiding their sleeping angelic brothers. The angelic are placed under a bond of peace to reduce the conflicts and egoistic struggles that result in violent conflicts between the angelic and demonic sides of life. To this end, the demonic are more conscious and aware of the true process of things.

However, the demonic are held back by the bonds of wrongness which implies that they need to be sarcastic or indirect in their methods while trying to be helpful.

In this regard, the compulsory destruction of angelic women by gangbangs, BDSM, humiliation etc. should help divert the attention of angelic men to demonic women who are less susceptible to the ploys of the demonic defenders. It then means that entrapment and enslavement of angelic women is an indirect attempt at guiding the angelic men to their own cross-matched true loves.

What then becomes of Michael, the epitome of love. The god of Love or the spiritual vessel designated with the carrying of the feeling of love. It all means that Michael, who is bonded to love, would never be able to get love in return. If you put this in the perspective of the eBook titled 'The Curse of True Love', you would understand the pains and sufferings carried by physical vessels of Michael around the world.

In fact, many vessels of Michael don't make it past the insanity stages, were they are bombarded by feelings they can't explain, and women reject them in obscene manners without any reasonable excuse.

Some women have experienced the worsening of bonds all the way to brutal BDSM dungeons and even fatal snuff films. Some grooms have unknowingly been victims of worsening by having their brides sexed in the washroom of their wedding halls. It is all so strange, bizarre, and very insensitive. It is a total corruption of the ego.

We are not certain if the problem of bond worsening arose out of the original bond of wrongness, or if it is an arrogant display of might. However, it is one of the important indicators that our world is not supposed to continue in wrongness.

This author commends the women for the different efforts they have made towards trying to keep lovers happy. There are women who bonded themselves to look cute, despite what the defenders do to them. There are women who bond themselves to always have a beautiful face for the so called 'fools'. There are women who bond themselves to always have firm breasts.

All these are just examples of efforts women make as they try to sustain love in a world that would be destroyed if love dies completely. Are we being truly wise with our affairs?

Freedom from Bond Pains

The pain of bonds is not exclusive to women alone. Many men are also held bonded by the pains of entrapping bonds.

This author has suffered the pains of bonds for almost 6 years before writing this eBook. To be precise, this author started experiencing bonded pains from about sometime before the outbreak of the year 2020 Covid pandemic to the current time of writing which is the year 2026.

Bonded pains are like invisible whips or many tiny needles used to control your mind and bend you to the will of the person or entity who activates it.

Most people still don't know that it is activated by other physical individuals like themselves. How it is activated is not clear to this author, neither is it clear how the enslaved becomes conscious of what he is meant to do.

To see a lurid example of the use of enslaving bonds you can read the review of the movie titled 'The House on Fin Street' and please watch the movie to see how a human being can be forced to act and respond like a dog using bonds. It is a sad truth about our failing humanity.

The use of bonds is a serious challenge for the individual who is strong, free or independent enough to withstand and reject the enforced will of the attempted enslaver. It is a serious challenge that can lead to irrational emotional responses like violence, which might be a fatal decision.

Isn't it troublesome to see girls who start covering up at the ages of 3 to 5 when they begin to develop a natural sense of modesty and an awareness of bodily privacy, become nudist, strippers, and online nude shows as teenagers and even to their 50s?

While the girls choose nudity to express and reject the maddening pain of bonds, the men, on the other hand, might become vicious and rabidly violent. Such violence usually leads to their own fatality, because the sleeping angelic are barely any match for the awoken demonics.

The angelics are meant to carry love, and the demonic have a responsibility to respect that pact.

The pain of bonds can be maddening, and the intensity of pain varies from one individual to another. It also varies by the individual's accomplishments or level of partaking in the systems of wrongness.

Nudity and Violence are common responses to the commanding use of bonds, but two wrongs don't make a right. Going nude or being instigated to violence wouldn't free you from being entrapped.

If you have a choice, much unlike the kidnapped and trafficked women in the movie 'House on Fin Street', then the best option would be to stay calm. Calmness is a superpower!

You can't fight what you can't see, and you can't be sure if it is the person you suspect that is actually responsible for activating the bonds. Bonds can be placed over lifetimes or generations.

A person can place bonds on the way something should be done, and long after the person leaves, the bonds might still be active in that place. The experience of that bond would then depend on the individual who becomes a victim of the circumstance. So don't go blaming your neighbors, acquaintances, or friends for using bonds on you.

You are only sure of one thing, and that is that, 'You are not sure of what it is'

If the experience of bonds depends on the individual, it then logically follows that the effect of bonds is carried within each individual and not an external impact like is commonly believed.

This is a level of realization that this author reached after becoming more tuned to his higher self through meditation and prayers. Not the usual prayer warfare of fighting with the devil and the evil forces using bonds, but an affirmation of thanks or thankfulness for the guidance of God towards a better world.

Through meditation and mindfulness, this author has come to realize that there are different factors within the individual that affect his susceptibility to bonds.

Please note that the causal effects mentioned might not be the same for everyone, but it would give you insights on how to observe and analyze yourself to determine what triggers your painful experiences.

Foods: This author is neither a medical professional nor a nutritionist or food scientist, but through observation, personal experiences, and experimentation. The author observed that there are certain foods which activate and increase the painful effects of bonds.

The food listed below might not be the same for you. So, it is advised that you observe your own eating habits and determine what your activators are.

1. Pastries (Cake, Meatpies, Donuts, Samosa)
2. Bread (White or Brown, Nan, Chapati, Gluten-free not exempted)
3. Wheat based pasta (Noodles, Spaghetti, Macaroni)
4. Pizza
5. Wheat based cereals
6. Corn and corn products (Cornflakes, Corn bread, Corn starch, Pap or Akamu)
7. Barley and Oats products
8. Alcohol
9. Breaded foods (Meatballs, Breaded fried chicken, Breaded chips)
10. Opium foods (Khus khus)
11. Dates (Sweet fruity dates used in pastries)
12. Coffee
13. Peanuts or Groundnuts
14. Yeasts

A dusty or dirty environment and lint on your clothes can also be used as a portal to activate bond pains.

These are all physical factors that we can influence but going beyond the physical into spiritual activation methods. I would try to explain what I have observed, even at the risk of sounding completely insane. I don't really care about sounding insane, as long as I don't try to enforce or impose my opinion on other people. If you know, you know!

There are some pain spots in the human body. Personally, this author has felt them on his head at the point where the neck joins the head, on the ribs just underneath the chest cavity, on both armpits, the buttocks, the back of the knee, and the inside of the elbow. Disinfecting these pain spots can also lead to relief from bond pains.

Sometimes it seems like a sought of tentacle connection coming from a spiritual presence or entity. In this perception, it also appears that the demonic or the entity is struggling to stay alive by maintaining contact or connecting to a physical being. The wrongness of the parasitic relationship triggers body pains.

If you become conscious of these things, don't panic or feel afraid. It's no use because you can't really run from a spirit. Just stay calm and carry on with your life's pursuit. Those who don't know live in complete oblivion and ignorant bliss. Besides, it might also be just a phase in our human journey.

This author also reached a strange awareness of bonded presences. Like a sought of invisible or spiritual cryochamber that holds a spiritual presence in place.

For example, you might notice that every time you sit on a particular chair or spot in your house, you start feeling disturbances trying to penetrate your head or body, but if you move to another location, the disturbances stop.

That is because there is a bonded presence located in that spot, and switching positions usually disorients or dissolves the entity's intentions. Such bonded presences can also be eliminated by deep cleaning such positions, because their presence is sustained by dirt or dust.

There are some body lotions that also affect the intensity of bonded pains. Calamine lotion is one of the lotions that can help reduce or eliminate bonded pains. However, this author isn't sure about the lotions or creams that worsen such pains.

Spiritual Transfer of Bond Carrying Foods

If they're not tormenting then surely, they can't be the rebellious demonics, whose original bond is going against the status quo to achieve scientific breakthroughs.

The most irritating and annoying thing about their essence is also the best part of who they are. There is so much in our world that love for one another can help us overcome.

This author noticed the spiritual transfer of the effect of bond carrying foods after he made posts on social media trying to educate those who were suffering from bond pains.

The spiritual transfer of bond carrying foods is a sought of outrageous attempt by the demonics to sustain this author's ignorance.

This author noticed instances where some strange individuals came close to him and he had a sense of something leave their body and enter his own body. Soon after the encounter, the pains which the author had freed himself from by abstaining from the listed foods returned.

In one instance, while boarding a bus there was a man holding two pizza boxes right behind me. I felt something rush up the back of my shirt and enter my skin. When I later alighted from the bus, the pain returned.

In another instance, someone sat directly in front of me, and I felt something creep up my shoes and underneath my trousers into my legs. Soon after the bonded pains returned.

They tried several methods to destroy my awareness of the use of bond carrying foods. But it doesn't change what I know, and I hope my knowledge helps the suffering too. Not just to learn and adopt but to become conscious without degenerating to violence and build their own mindful defenses against such exploitative attitudes.

It is important to note that because of the bonds of wrongness which lead to worsening and the unremorseful rebelliousness of the demonics, they might invent new methods to overcome your intelligence or awareness. Therefore, be mindful, observant, and aware of any new triggers. Do it in a way that it doesn't become a torment to you, because sometimes it is truly better not to react or to do 'NOTHING'.

True Love Crossmatching and Territorial Connectivity

According to the revelations and awareness levels reached by this author, there are thirteen territories in our world belonging to or assigned to the original thirteen DNA strands. These thirteen territories are extrapolated into our solar system, with each territory on earth becoming representative of a planet. This also includes the Sun.

Each territory has its original Queen Mother and King. The Queen Mother and original King of each territory are the male and female versions of the same spiritual entity. Hence, in Michealean territory, the physical male vessel would be a reincarnated physical presence of Michael, while the physical female vessel would be a reincarnated physical presence of Michaela.

Each Queen and King is crossmatched with a different Queen and King from another territory.

Note however, that each territory contains all the DNA strands. This means that the original thirteen are available in each DNA's territory. The acknowledgement of Queen Mother or King is just to symbolize that the territory would be strongly lead or guided by the attributes of the persona that it is assigned to.

Unfortunately, this author hasn't completely reached the consciousness of identifying the physical vessels of all thirteen DNA strands.

Nonetheless, he has raised valuable suggestions and provided insights that can guide future understanding or that can be expanded, improved, and developed by those who are more conscious, spiritually aware, and knowledgeable.

Scientific research or social science research can also be used to verify and confirm these insights.

This author reached the conscious levels of identifying some of the physical vessels of the original Queen Mothers and Kings. He presents his observations in two tables below. The first table shows the original Queen Mothers and their territories. By default, each territory's original King is the male version of the territory's Queen Mother. The second table shows the crossmatching of true love between the Queens and the Kings of other territories.

This implies that each Queen and King can be associated with two territories. One from their original DNA programming and the other territory from their partnership based on crossmatched true love.

The table also lists some notable planetary and cosmic alignments.

Queen Mother and physical example	Planetary alignment and Territory Examples.
1. Queen of White Asian Territory Physical examples: Michelle Yeoh, Noah Cyrus, Atsuko Okatsuka.	Cosmic Sun Chinese, Japanese, South Koreans, North Koreans, Vietnamese.
2. Queen of Black Race	Planet Mars.

Physical examples: Celine Dion, Halle Berry, Miley Cyrus, Doechii, Jennifer Lopez	Black Africans, The Caribbean regions.
3. Queen of Brown Asians Physical examples: Dilya Abdusalimova, Mariam Mikadze (@marimiqadzze)	India, Pakistan
4. Queen of White Race (Gabrieleans) Physical examples: Jennifer Lawrence, Rihanna, Olivia Dean	Planet Neptune United Kingdom, Nordic Alliance, Greece.
5. Queen of Indigenous (Michaeleans) Physical examples: Katy Perry, Megan Fox, Demi Moore	Planet Earth Indigenous people of Canada, and North America.
6. Queen of Southeast Asia (Raphaeleans) Physical examples: Nicki Minaj, Jamie Lee Curtis	Cambodia, Thailand, Myanmar, Indonesia, Malaysia, Philippines.

7. Queen of Eastern Europe Physical examples: Mercy Johnson, Rosie O'Donnell, Melissa McCarthy (Not Sure About This Territory)	Russia, Ukraine, Belarus, Belarus, Romania, Slovakia
8. Unknown
9. Unknown
10. Unknown
11. Unknown
12. Unknown
13. Unknown

You can find the complete list of territorial distribution in the eBook titled 'Twelve Sisters and Twelve Planets' which is available on www.filmnoir.ca.

Crossmatching of True Love
Queen Mother	Original King
1. White Asian	White Race (Gabrielean)
2. Black Race	Indigenous (Michaelean)

3. Brown Asian		Southeast Asian (Raphaelean)
4. White Race (Gabriela)		Eastern Europe
5. Indigenous (Michaela)	Canada	Black Race
6. Southeast Asia		White Asian
7. Eastern Europe		Unknown

Please acknowledge that this author is only making use of intuitions, spiritual revelations, and mindful observations. This implies that he might be wrong in the physical examples provided, and he encourages those who are more conscious or knowledgeable to improve on what he has done.

All the revelations written in this book are based on the author’s own personal experiences both spiritual and physical. Therefore, they are not set in stone.

Perception varies from one individual to another, and everything identified by this author is open to debate and can be improved by people who are more knowledgeable and spiritually awoken to the veiled aspects of our reality.

Thank you for your understanding, as we peacefully build a better world in peace, love, and harmony.

Addendum

Other notable things have also been revealed to this author that might be a bit weird but important are stated here.

One of such things is the songs or cries to Michael's original sister 'the White Asian Queen'. The initial divine separation from the source that is listed as one of the creation stories in the first chapter of this book.

These cries became related to the social process of British colonization movement around the world.

Although, colonization has a bad reputation because of its enforcement and slavery, there was also something quite important about the social process of it.

It was also a rescue mission to save 'little brother' (as the Asians refer to the essence of 'Love') from infanticide.

The betrayal who killed the king and hunted reincarnated versions of the king who was still bonded with the memories of the right part for humanity, had started several evil cultures and traditions around the world which victimized the reincarnations of newborn Michael.

Colonization was, therefore, a subconscious rescue mission from Michael's divine sister, now acting as partner to Archangelic Gabriel and utilizing the role of Queen of the White Race.

It's a bit vague, but this author thinks it's important to acknowledge and bring it to the notice of readers.

Another important piece of information is the Inuit tribes which live in the regions of Siberia, Russia, and China.

These were intuitively revealed as a section of the Indigenous Canadians and Native North Americans, who had disagreed with the usurping of the original King and fled the land, hoping to get help from the sister essence of the White Asian Queen.

In the movie 'Golden Kamuy', which is also reviewed on www.filmnoir.ca, the traditional food of the Michaeleans is a main theme.

This was revealed to the author, because the common food of indigenous Canadians which is called Bannock Bread, would fall under the category of bond activating foods.

This implies that the food was enforced on the people and a section of the tribe fled from the enslaving betrayals to Asia, in hope of finding help to rescue the betrayed King.

On the brighter side, the bonded pains from Bannock could have kept the downtrodden Indigenous people alive during cold winter seasons. However, it is not an excuse, because if things flowed properly, they wouldn't lack warm clothing, shelter, or good food.

No hard feelings, and hopefully no useless or wasted energy on vengeance. This author only seeks to bring understanding in the social processes of man and help provide or develop insights into the future direction of our world.

Thank you once again for reading this piece. Stay Blessed!